

Provincial consultation on the future of Franco-Ontarian education

OTTAWA, Ontario, November 1st, 2021 - The Association des enseignantes et des enseignants franco-ontariens (AEFO) -- an association of Franco-ontarian teachers and education workers -- is launching a broad consultation with its members, partners and the community on the future of French-language education in Ontario. Over the next six months, the initiative Entre nos mains : l'école franco-ontarienne de demain (In Our Hands: The Franco-Ontarian School of Tomorrow) will address the main issues facing the French-language education system, including teacher shortages, the privatization of certain school services as well as other challenges. The consultations will culminate in a General Assembly in May 2022.

A press videoconference will be held to present the highlights.
